THE POWER IS IN YOUR HANDS.

A woman's work is never done, especially a working woman's. You host dinner parties and sales meetings. You write business plans and notes for your kids' lunches. You're the backbone of your family and your career; you are someone that your business and family are proud of. But what if something were to happen to you? Don't overlook a very important responsibility that's in front of you. You need proper insurance planning for yourself and your family.

Disability Insurance FOR WORKING WOMEN

You work hard and sacrifice time at home to ensure your family has what they need. They're counting on your paycheck and your ability to earn it. That's why your income needs to be protected. Too often, purchasing disability insurance is overlooked, yet you are among those who need it most. If you became sick or hurt and unable to work, what would you do? Protect yourself with disability insurance that will help you pay your family bills while you're unable to work.

Life Insurance FOR WORKING WOMEN

Whether your family includes a spouse, children, pets or any combination of these, they are counting on you each and every day. Without you, things just wouldn't be the same. If something were to happen to you, you'll want to be sure your family doesn't have to worry about making ends meet. Don't put their dreams in jeopardy by not planning ahead with proper life insurance coverage. A solid life insurance plan will be a lasting gift to your loved ones – one that will pay the mortgage, children's college, and other financial obligations. With it, the dreams you have for them will live on.

For nearly a century, Illinois Mutual has remained committed to providing flexible and affordable insurance plans, giving you the protection you need.
